Alyssa was so excited because she got picked for a baking competition in Belgravia but only if she was 14 and up. She's almost 20. She always wanted to go in the competition and Belgravia. It also said she could pick one person to go with her. She knew just the person, Mark her best friend. That day she texted Mark if he wanted to come with her to Belgravia for the baking competition. He said YES and sent thousands of exciting face emojis. They booked their tickets 2 days before they had to leave. Today was Friday and they had to leave on Sunday.

The day had finally arrived. It was Sunday!!! The baking competition was on Thursday. So they got 4 days of sightseeing and preparing. Mark and Alyssa got to the hotel they were living in. It was so luxurious. It was pretty late so they went to bed. The next day, Mark was looking at some pictures over the past years of the baking competition and.... This one really stood out to him. He was surprised he didn't know people loved Cardi B that much that they had to put her on a cake. Anyways he ate breakfast with Alyssa then went to sightsee.

After their days of sightseeing they drove to the competition. They had only 4 hours to make a underwater-themed cake. Alyssa told Mark what do and Mark never minds, actually he likes when he has directions to do something. After 4 hours, time was up and this was their cake!

When the judges were announcing who won you could tell how worried Mark and Alyssa were based on their facial expressions. They announced the winner it was..... Will and Lucy. Mark and

Alyssa looked so depressed. "Wait never mind that was a mistake sorry about that the real winners are Alyssa and Mark!! Now their face was filled with excitement they won 10,000 dollars. They went home to share the good news!"
