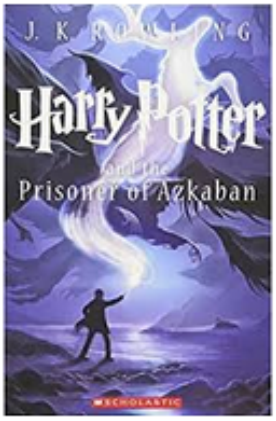
Professor Lupin from Harry Potter



VERSUS ARES FROM WONDER WOMAN

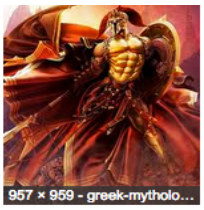
Ok, so, as you know, I am comparing Remus Lupin from Harry Potter and Ares from Wonder Woman. I will be comparing their actions/motives, their looks, their personalities, and their backgrounds.

Their actions/motives are: Lupin fights because he knows that it is the right thing to do. Ares fights because of a feud between him and Zeus, the Greek God and his brother. They both fight because the other side is not agreeing with their beliefs.

Their looks: they look almost exactly alike because the same actor played both of them. They both have reddish-brown hair, brilliant blue eyes, a ton of wrinkles, and a mustache. Ares wears a neat suit, and Lupin wears shabby wizard's robes.

Their personalities are sort of different, slightly similar. Ares and Lupin both have high tempers at times, and they can also be very sweet at times. Ares is sort of sweet because he is nice to Wonder Woman, our main character, despite the fact that she is a girl. One way their personalities are different is that Ares acts nice, and Lupin is actually very nice.

Their backgrounds have only one thing in common: they both have hidden sides. Lupin is a werewolf, and Ares is actually a very old Greek God. Lupin is not a werewolf by birth, but Ares is a Greek God by birth. A werewolf bit Lupin at an early age, but Ares was born as an immortal Greek God.



They are both extremely different, but they both have a lot in common.
