

Goldilocks and the Three Aliens
(an adaptation of Goldilocks and the Three Bears)
By: Connor G.

Once upon a time there was a young girl named Goldilocks who was in her rocket flying to the moon. Meanwhile, three aliens (a mom, a dad, and a kid named Joey) who lived on the moon were going to go on a walk. So they made their moon cheese breakfast, left it on the table, and left their spaceship.

Just then Goldilocks landed on the moon in her rocket, but the aliens didn't notice her. When she got out of the rocket, the first thing she saw was the aliens' spaceship. She wanted to explore it, so she bounced over in her spacesuit and went inside.

Goldilocks walked into the dining room. She saw three pieces of moon cheese on the table. Goldilocks was very hungry, so she decided to have some. She tried some of the biggest piece. "Too stale!" she said. She ate a bit of the medium piece. "Too mushy!" she complained. She went over to the smallest one and took a bite. "Just right!" she proclaimed, and she ate it all up.

Goldilocks wandered into the living room and saw three portable radios. She giggled in excitement. Goldilocks turned on the biggest radio. "These stations are too loud!" she said. She went over to the next radio and turned it on. "These stations are too quiet!" she said. Then she went over to the smallest radio. "These stations are just right!" she said. She went upstairs and left the smallest radio on.

Then Goldilocks decided to go into the bedrooms. She got in the biggest hammock. "This is too rough," she said. Then she laid in the medium hammock. "This is too soft," she said. She went to the littlest one and said, "This one is just right!" She sighed because she got sleepy. Goldilocks fell fast asleep in the hammock.

Just then mama, papa and Joey came back. They looked at the table. "Someone has been eating my cheese!" said Papa alien. "Someone has been eating my cheese too!" said Mama alien. Joey alien said, "Someone has been eating my cheese, and it's all gone!"

They flew into the living room. Papa alien said, "Someone has been listening to my radio and cracked the antenna!" Mama alien said, "Someone has been listening to my radio, and the button is jammed!" Joey ailen said, "Someone has been listening to my radio, and it's still on!"

The aliens were very mad by now as they floated up the stairs. Papa ailen said "Someone has been in my hammock!" Mama alien said, "Same here!" Joey ailen said "Someone has been sleeping in my hammock, and here she is!" They were furious.

Goldilocks wakes up and bounces back to her rocket as fast as she can and blasts off. She will never go to the moon again!

The End.
