

The Monkey the Sloth and The Fox

(An adaption of the Tortoise and the Hare)

By Gunner M.

Once upon a time in a jungle the old Sloth was sleeping and was awoken by the Monkey. "I'm faster than you" said the Monkey. "Nnnnoooo yyyoouurr nnoott." "Yes I am." Nnnoo yyoouurr nnoot." "Fine then I challenge you to a race." "Ill aaccceepptt yyoouurr cchhaalleennggee." They decided the race would be one mile long swinging through the trees.

"Hey you two." said a mysterious voice. "I'm a fox and I'm here to eat you." "Don't foxes live in forests?" "Yes, but I want some exotic meats." "We are going to have a race you can eat the loser." "Sounds fair."

When they are getting ready for the race the Monkey thinks this is going to be easy. When the race starts the monkey is in the lead, but in the corner of his eye he sees some bright yummy ripe bananas, and the sloth is so far behind he thinks he can stop and eat some. And the monkey eats and eats until he falls asleep and he hits the ground. 1 hour passes and the monkey just woke up. He heads towards the finish line on foot and sees the sloth has won!

The fox says "GET IN MY BELLY" to the monkey. The monkey tries to get away, but is too full to run. "That was so goood. I am definitely eating you sloth."

"Aaaawwww hhhhheeeeeecccckkkk nnnnaaaawww." The sloth jumped into a Lamborghini well hid in the bushes and said "Rrriidddeee ooorrr ddiiee." "You think you are the only one with an expensive car? Well you're wrong buckaroo." The fox now jumps into a Ferrari also well hid in a bush and they get into an intense road race. "Pull over" "Nnnneevveeerrr" "Fine then" The fox slams into the sloth and the sloth flips and lands perfectly. "What, how did that happen?" "Iii dddoonn'ttt kkknnnoowww" "Ahhh there is a cliff” And at that moment the fox falls off the cliff and into the ocean and the sloth survives.

The moral of the story is don't try to eat exotic meats raw or you will die.