

Kim and Kourtney

Their differences and similarities

By: Maneet D.

From: Keeping Up With The Kardashians

These 2 plastic ladies are Kim and Kourtney Kardashian, in case you haven't read the title. They are both sisters and from the show, "Keeping Up With The Kardashians". I will be comparing them by there appearance, personality, actions, motives, and there popularity.

Appearance

They look very similar to me, maybe not you. They both have those twinkling brown eyes. Well, I guess all the sisters (Kim, Kourtney, Khloe) have brown eyes. Thy have long hair, the photo I chose at the top wasn't really helpful to see if they BOTH have long hair, but of course they have the same hair color in the particular picture. That reminds me, what is different from their appearance? To me, Kourtney really where's less makeup than Kim. Kim Kardashian is surprisingly younger than Kourtney, seeing in the photo it may seem the opposite.

Personality

Kim and Kourtney actually have pretty different personality's. I have been watching many of the episodes of Keeping Up With the Kardashians to pick up the vibe that Kim is pretty much a drama queen(emotional) with things, but Kourtney is more on the calm side. For example, when Kourtney was pretty much "robbed", she just stared at her assistant for a while figuring out its happened before. What they have similar with there personality is they're both caring. For example, when something happens to a sister (Kim, Kourtney, and Khloé) they all try to solve the problem.

Actions

There actions really scream out there personality. Just like how Kim is a total drama queen. There actions are never always good necessarily, they make BIG mistakes a lot. Let's start with Kim, she really screws up to me. When they were having problems as a family she just rage kills like those fortnite players. She does this stuff protecting her family (Yes, she is married to Kanye) and her business. Kourtney on the other hand likes solving things out instead of being really selfish. Being protective, like they both defend them when there's like an argument with someone outside of the family.

Motives

What really motivates them to keep doing what they do is their Mom, they like their mom more than they did in Three Little Kardashians when their Mom kicked them out. There Mom supported them from all the way to the beginning. There families also support them a lot, also their fans. As you can see they have a lot of motivation so it was hard to find their different motivations. I tried figuring it out, I found a video saying Kim loves proving people wrong, ok thanks Google.

Popularity

Kim is really more popular than Kourtney, there is even an article that just left Kourtney in the dust. Kim gets the crown with 62.2

million while Kourtney has 24.7 million followers. But really they are more popular than just a couple million people. What's similar about there followers is that most of them are over the age of 20. What may be different is that they like one person more than the other.

But as always we need to joke around from time to time so I will show you this...

