

Matthew Traquair
November 18, 2017

The Golden Staff
(Omniscient Writing)

Once upon a time there lived a roman hero named Ulysses. He was on a mission to kill the wizard grendelus. When he arrived at the evil mage grendel's lair all of his comrades were captured so he challenged grendelus to a duel where if he won all of his friends would be set free. So after the fight Ulysses was the last one standing! After taking the evil wizards golden staff Ulysses set sail in his boat. But sadly there was a treacherous storm and the golden staff was lost to mankind!

One day two kids set sail to find the staff."Let's go that way". Fred said."Ok". Said Tod. So they set sail and reached their destination within a hour. "You dive".Said Tod. "No you dive". Said Fred! So they settled with a game of rock , paper , scissors. Fred won. So Tod dived and found the staff and they went home and became famous!

The Golden Staff
(Limited Omniscient Writing)

Once upon a time there lived a roman hero named Ulysses. He was on a mission to kill the wizard grendelus. When he arrived at the evil mage grendel's lair all of his comrades were captured so he challenged grendelus to a duel where if he won all of his friends would be set free. So after the fight Ulysses was the last one standing! After taking the evil wizards golden staff Ulysses set sail in his boat. But sadly there was a treacherous storm and the golden staff was lost to mankind!

One day two kids set sail to find the staff."Let's go that way". Fred said."Ok". I said. So they set sail and reached their destination within a hour. "You dive".I said. "No you dive". Said Fred! So we settled with a game of rock , paper , scissors. Fred won. So I dived and we found the staff and they went home and became famous!