

Sleeping Mittens

By Phoebe M.

(Adaptation of sleeping beauty)

Once upon a time there was an evil queen named Meowificent. She hated being good and hated princesses especially Pawraura who had the most wonderful royal paws. When Pawraura was born they had a big celebration and threw a big party and everybody wished good luck for the baby. Then Meowificent crashed the party and wished for her to prick her paw on a piece of kitty litter and die when she turned 16. After that the last whisker fairy of the 3 wished for the spell to be broken with a true love's kiss.

When it was almost Pawraura's 16th birthday, Pawraura had moved with her whisker fairies who were trying to escape from Meowificent. then Pawraura was sent to get some berries since the whisker fairies are making a birthday dress and cake. Pawraura loves to meow so she meowed as she was walking and all of the other animals loved her meowing and followed all the way through the forest. Soon she meowed to the animals about dreaming about this dog. The dog in her dreams had heard her meowing and is going to meet her at the cottage in the night . while the whisker fairies were making a party it wasn't going so well so they had to use treats. Treats are like magic but in cat food, you eat a treat and wish for what you want to happen. And they started to fight over what color the dress should be and what color the cake should be so it became a big fight. shortly after that Pawraura arrived and luckily there was not too much paw fighting (maybe a little). When Pawraura told the whisker fairies about the dog she met that was also in her dreams, they told her that when she was born she had proposed to a goat by the laws of being a princess. She whined and ran upstairs to her room. And tomorrow she was meeting her dad in the katdom.

The next day after she met the dog she had to go back to her father. The whole time she was in the carriage she didn't say a word she was so sad. But the dog ran all the way to the kingdom just to marry Pawraura. They got married and lived a

Not so happily ever after ...

She turned 16 and ran away and pricked her finger on a piece of kitty litter and was dead. A week later in cat (which is 3 days in human) they had found her dead in a coffin near Meowificent!

The whisker fairies told the dog which is now a prince that true loves kiss would wake her up, so he kissed Pawraura with no hesitation. When she woke up, she turned into a dog the age of her prince barking!!!!

And they lived happily ever after
