

Spider-Man vs. Iron man

By Riley J.

Introduction

For this Writers Lab assignment, I will be comparing two Marvel characters, Spider man and Iron man in a few groups. Appearance, Personalities, actions/motives, and superpowers.

Appearance

Spider-Man's suit is red with a black spider and black webs on it. It also has a bit of blue on it. Iron man is red and gold with a mask and a chest thing that is attached to his body. Their appearance is similar because they both have a lot of red on their outfits. They also have something on their chest. When spider man is Peter Parker, he has brown hair, while Tony Stark, a.k.a. Iron man, has black hair.

Personalities

Peter Parker/Spiderman doesn't tell people he is spiderman unless they can be trusted with the information, like in Far From Home, he tells M.J. that he is spiderman because he has a crush on her. He also tells his best friend, Ned. Iron man/Tony Stark, on the other hand, tells the whole world that he is Iron Man, and makes it pretty obvious. He wears the chest thingy for everyone to see in public. Iron man has a lot of money, while spiderman is middle- class. Spider man and Iron man both are social people, even though Peter hides that he is spider man.

Actions/motives

Spider man fights villains because he was bitten by a radioactive spider and his uncle Ben was murdered. Iron man fights villains because he has the chest thingy and that gives him the ability to fight villains. They both are also in the Avengers, but Spider man does not join until Captain America: Civil War. (I think) Iron man is in the Avengers for a while before he dies.

Superpowers

Iron man invented his suit and gadgets. Spider man also invents his web mixture and Iron man makes one of Spider man's suits, Iron Spider. Spider man can do pretty much anything a spider can do. Iron man has the power to do a lot of futuristic stuff like something a robot would do. They are both very smart people, so they can do stuff like invent, find certain strategies to defeat villains, and many other things.

Conclusion

Spiderman and Iron Man are great characters, but are similar and different in many ways.
